Shower for Miss Irene Nash

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Haines on Thursday afternoon last in honor of Miss Irene Nash, whose marriage takes place to Mr. Eddie Sellen on Sunday, July 22nd. Miss Nash, Smith won the prize in a verse contest when she was tried for honors with Miss Daphne Nash. Miss Florence Luff won the prize for another contest.

Master Keith Haines presented the gifts to the bride-elect on a small wheellbarrow which was decorated with white paper and a bride standing in an arch way.

Miss Nash was the recipient of a large number of beautiful and useful gifts.

The hostess, Miss Ella Haines, served a dainty lunch to her guests and the gathering ended with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

OTTAWA SPEAKING

A Canadian of Ottawa sends a letter to the editor of Liberty Magazine in a current issue. James Lambert of Ottawa, calls attention to the comparison between European and Canadian border between Canada and the United States. He says:

"There are no fortifications—only a wire fence here and there. No fear exists among the people of these two countries, and that is the chief trouble in Europe now. Each country fears its neighbor and if that fear is not diminished another war is inevitable. I hope European nations before long agree on a treaty similar to that which exists between the U.S.A. and Canada in regard to the fortifying of their frontiers."

good growth.

Southwestern Alberta—Summer-fall crops are fair to good.

Western Alberta—Crops in the northern district particularly are growing rapidly and range pastures are good.

SEVENTH ALTA. CROP REPORT

All crops in Alberta are at present making good progress under more or less ideal growing conditions, with the exception of the east-central section where early drought and the hopes have left their mark, and where July rains have not been as heavy or frequent as in other areas.

Over most of the province the first half of July has brought considerable moisture, the rains having varied from occasional showers at intervals of a few days in many parts of southern Alberta, to frequent and heavy rain storms in central and northern areas. The result is a very satisfactory supply of moisture which verges on an abundance in some of the central and northern districts where the need of a period of warmer weather is beginning to be felt, and where an extension of the present rainy spell would mean a somewhat serious retardation of crop development.

The past two weeks have been characterized by violent electrical disturbances and severe hail storms over a portion of central Alberta, where heavy damage has been done to crops in the affected areas, this reaching as high as 75 to 100 per cent in individual cases.

Most of the wheat in the province is headed out and generally seeking to bring a good healthy stand. A marked growth in some of the central districts. Coarse grains are also heading out and showing progress.

Crops around Carbon are holding up well under warm weather, but rain is now needed in almost every part of the district to fill the heads. Harvesting will commence about August 1st if warm weather continues.

BANK OF MONTREAL CROP REPORT AT JULY 12

General—Crop conditions are generally good throughout Alberta and in northern Saskatchewan and northern Manitoba but in southern Saskatchewan and in certain sections of central and southern Manitoba the outlook is but fair to poor. Hail damage is reported from scattered sections but is not considered serious except in some local areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Reviewing conditions in the prairie provinces as a whole a leading grain company estimates the state of the grain crop at 77 per cent of normal. In Quebec crops as a whole present a good appearance and weather conditions are satisfactory. In Ontario rains and warm weather have promoted rapid growth and spring crops are looking remarkably well. Hay is nearing completion the yield being much below normal though of good quality. In the Maritime provinces the growth is average for this period and rain is needed. In British Columbia fine weather with intermittent rains has been favourable to growing crops in most districts and conditions generally are satisfactory.

Let Us Do Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them. Business men, remember that the home printer is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla, Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry. Camilla, to live their own lives apart. Hoyt is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to receive money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of finding an agent. Others in the story are Miss Worth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Miss Nelson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club, where the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip in to the booth by themselves and fall asleep on the sofa. When they awake it is early morning and Ave and Peter are very strange. Camilla is surprised to find the studio. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Camilla tries to tell Peter to come home and live with her, but he is too proud and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Ave Worth calls and requests Peter to accept a new commission. Peter finishes his exhibit and asks Ave and Sylvia to see it. They go to the gallery where Peter's exhibit is. Peter and Camilla suggest "Papers" and Ave "Inimitable" and Peter adopts the latter. Camilla, heartily goes to Peter's studio for a night and Ave and Sylvia follow later, and the three are turned out by the landlady. Camilla has been shattered to pieces. Ave and Camilla, of course, are not. Camilla, stunned by the landlady and hurt and horrified by the accusation, faints.

At Camilla's suggestion, Peter enters in his exhibit. Camilla is disappointed especially for her as a painting gift. They named it "Land of Hope."

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER LI

Ave managed to visit the exhibit alone with John Danforth on the day before the final vote would be cast for the winner of the Paris scholarship. She had made the coincidence seem casual enough. And her interest in art had elicited her uncle's unqualified approval from the beginning. His own nose and only daughter had evinced none of his artistic appreciation, which was one of the few disappointments of his life. So, when his niece not only patronized the profession but actually won her degree at National, he was immensely proud, and sympathetic with her plans and interests.

His generous was so obvious that approval that he had purchased one of her best paintings and hung it in his library, though he had admitted to himself that she could make it elsewhere for a song. But he advocated that prize stimulates effort and encourages and encourages. He was particularly noted for his philanthropy to talent, and not a small part of the Paris scholarship fund was responsible to his generosity; but he never permitted his left hand to support what kept his right hand so busy.

"The judges have no easy task," he can tell you that," he confided to Ave at the exhibit. "It was difficult even to eliminate the entire lot."

"Do only beauty and perfection of detail enter into the consideration?" she asked, seriously.

"Oh no, there are many points to be considered."

"Such as—"

"Subject matter, position, execution of material—"

"Does the thought behind the object—the reason for the creation, its originality—mean anything?"

"Indeed, it means a very great deal. In there a piece here in which you vision a purpose, a story?"

"Oh, yes, a splendid one, Uncle John. Stand just here and look at that group over there, that is my story. And doesn't it tell you a dramatic story?"

OGDEN'S Cuts Well that Smokes Well

"Yes, I remember it well in the original selection. There was no question about entering it. I recall. Undoubtedly, it is one of the best. But there are so many among the best."

"But what other one tells so poignant a story of life?" she insisted. "There is the seagull—beautiful, but—just a seagull; a splendid illustration of Andrew Haywood—after all, just the portrait of a man; those nude figures tell 'Love' about which there is nothing to tell. The portrait of a man on a hill in a storm, the modernistic conception of 'The Kiss'—but who would want a kiss like that?" she smiled.

"I suspect," he looked at her shrewdly, "that you are campaigning for a vote for that young man of yours."

"Only because he deserves it," Ave defended.

"I don't doubt that," he agreed readily. "Well, my dear, if it will relieve your anxiety and you will keep it, I don't suppose he already said my vote from the beginning. I must say that my opinion could have wavered between that and the Havoc."

"I suggested she was affectionately. It is merely a matter of matching points, and, as you say, that the vision and the story behind the group of men—must be favored, but I don't hope too much. My vote is only one of seven, you know."

"She suggested she was affectionately. 'One of seven is better than none.' I am glad to know that Peter will have one vote, anyway. That will draw attention to his work, at least. And you might be able to influence a good sale for him," she suggested, smiling.

"Perhaps I can," he agreed, with an amused smile.

Meanwhile, the results on Camilla's work were progressing rapidly. Wheatcroft Cereals sales had doubled since the fortnight, production was speeded up, the company was one of the few in the city calling back its former employees. Negotiations were being made for a national radio network to broadcast a "Tiny Tot" series for a children's half-hour program. "That's your wife, you worthy pup. She did it all by herself and in no time. Get yourself to work and deserve her."

"Of course, if that day ever comes when I can match your salary, Mrs. Anson, you will be expected to meet the terms of our original agreement."

"That day will be too soon for me," she declared, earnestly.

The New Diana

Fast Mail "Plane Of Imperial Air"

More Soldiers Than They Need

Endurance feats like those of Mrs. Molson and Miss Jean Batten will soon cease to have any good excuse.

When Miss Amy Johnson flew to Australia in twenty days, she was continuing along a route where no woman had flown before.

Miss Batten, taking the same trail in the same type of aeroplane, also had more reason for enduring the strain of long days alone in the air.

She reached Darwin in fifteen days. A few months hence the mails will need only fourteen days for the journey from London to the great cities of the south of Australia.

Instead of travelling, as the two women pilots did, at a speed of eighty miles an hour, the mails will be taken in the new Diana air line at a speed of 145 miles an hour.

Four years ago Mrs. Molson herself might have been dubbed the new Diana, making her conquests with the aid of horse power in the place of man.

The new Diana of Imperial Airways is the fastest time for a woman to make the trip once to Australia had stood unchanged for four years.

Now Miss Batten has displaced her, leaving the chase in other words of spending less time on the ground. There was no need to prove that engine and aeroplane would stand such treatment.

Mr. C. W. A. Scott and others had driven similar aeroplanes much harder along the same route. No one could be so bold as to obtain faster aircraft for such a journey.

The flight clearly was a test mainly of stamina in the pilot, made at the best time of the year for flying and along a route which is nearly ready for the operation of regular mail service.

But when the new Diana of Imperial Airways has taken up her duties, and she will take Lady E. Pinckham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of 100 say, "help me! Let it help you, too."

The New Diana

Fast Mail "Plane Of Imperial Air"

More Soldiers Than They Need

Endurance feats like those of Mrs. Molson and Miss Jean Batten will soon cease to have any good excuse.

When Miss Amy Johnson flew to Australia in twenty days, she was continuing along a route where no woman had flown before.

Miss Batten, taking the same trail in the same type of aeroplane, also had more reason for enduring the strain of long days alone in the air.

She reached Darwin in fifteen days. A few months hence the mails will need only fourteen days for the journey from London to the great cities of the south of Australia.

Instead of travelling, as the two women pilots did, at a speed of eighty miles an hour, the mails will be taken in the new Diana air line at a speed of 145 miles an hour.

Four years ago Mrs. Molson herself might have been dubbed the new Diana, making her conquests with the aid of horse power in the place of man.

The new Diana of Imperial Airways is the fastest time for a woman to make the trip once to Australia had stood unchanged for four years.

Now Miss Batten has displaced her, leaving the chase in other words of spending less time on the ground. There was no need to prove that engine and aeroplane would stand such treatment.

Mr. C. W. A. Scott and others had driven similar aeroplanes much harder along the same route. No one could be so bold as to obtain faster aircraft for such a journey.

The flight clearly was a test mainly of stamina in the pilot, made at the best time of the year for flying and along a route which is nearly ready for the operation of regular mail service.

But when the new Diana of Imperial Airways has taken up her duties, and she will take Lady E. Pinckham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of 100 say, "help me! Let it help you, too."

KEEPING UP QUALITY

The reputation of Canadian wheat on the markets of the world is due to the efforts western farmers have made to keep up the quality of their production.

And the reputation of United Grain Growers is similarly based on unflinching efforts to keep up the quality of its service to farmers in handling their grain and furnishing them with farm supplies.

WEDDINGS

OLIPHANT-POXON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the United Church, Carbon, at 5:30 o'clock on Wednesday, July 15th, when Miss Vera Poxon, only daughter of Mr. Ellen Poxon, became the bride of Mr. Cyril Oliphant, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Oliphant, Carbon.
Rev. Wm. McNeil, M.A., performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Leonard Poxon, who gave her in marriage, while Miss Kathleen Watkins played the bride's chorus. The bride wore a white crepe dress trimmed with organdie, with a white veil and orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful bouquet of yellow tulips and ferns.

Misses Daphne Nash and Myrtle Oliphant acted as bridesmaids and were dressed in pale green and peach organdie with large hats to match, each carrying pink carnations. Jean Heath, who wore a light blue organdie dress, was flower girl.

The groom was supported by Mr.
Cornelius Preston.

The church was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and flowers. Guest pews were tied off with tulle and ribbon. Alex and Cyril Poxon acted as ushers.

During the singing of the register Mrs. Torrance sang, accompanied at the organ by Miss Watkins.

Following the ceremony about sixty relatives and guests attended the reception which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Poxon.

The bride's travelling dress was a black crepe ensemble suit with grey accessories.

The happy young couple left immediately following the reception for a week's honeymoon at Banff and on returning will make their home in Carbon.

WITH CANOE AND PADDLE ON CANADA'S WATERWAYS

HANCE is the prime feature of a vacation and a canoe trip in Canada is one method by which the stress of daily life can be exchanged for a tranquil, carefree existence. It may be for a limited time only but its effects are felt all the year round. The rumble of traffic, hot pavements and stifled air have no place in the life of the canoeist.

A large number of interesting routes are outlined in "Canoe Trips in Canada," a booklet recently issued by the National Parks of Canada Department of the Interior, Ottawa.
Following the routes described therein one can drift lazily alone or relive the strenuous days of the voya-geur. There are cruises which lead for a hundred miles through canal, stream and lake with alternating civilization and lightly wooded country. There are, again, rough flowing rivers and placid lakes on which one can travel for days, and by contrast rushing streams which ever and again break into foaming rapids and thundering falls. These are adventures trips through wilderness country along routes once followed by Indian and fur-trader, now almost forgotten so seldom are they traveled. Strange geological formations, wild life, good fishing, the charm and the picturesque await the advent of one's canoe on the numerous and varied water trails of Canada.
